endeavored to aid state and local governments in revising 2000 applications rejected by Hopkins, whose contention was that these either involved too high a cost of materials or required more labor than was available on relief rolls. Now little chance is seen to revise these rejected projects by Sept. 12. The only work relief agency which did not enforce the Sept. 12 deadline was the rural electrification administration, for which $100,000,000 lias been earmarked.

THREE-DAY CELEBRATION AT FAIR TO HONOR CONSTITUTION, MEXICO

Another three-day celebration is planned at the Exposition Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The first two days, Exposition officials said yesterday, will be devoted to observance of the 125th anniversary of Mexico's independence, while Tuesday will witness a program in honor of American Constitution day. tract was permitted for more than one year.

The radio contract was awarded for a five-year period on Sept. 1, 1933, the records showed. It bore the necessary formal approval of the auditor and city attorney.

At the time of its award, the radio maintenance contract was under severe fire from a minority council group led by Leroy Goodbody, then councilman. The opposition, however, was based on policy grounds. The question of the legality of the contract never was raised at that time, so far as city records showed yesterday.
